Email subject line: Thank you – Senior Marketing Manager interview

Dear Alex,

Thank you for taking the time to meet with me today about the Senior Marketing Manager role at Brightline Software. I enjoyed learning more about your plans to grow pipeline from organic search, and about how the marketing and sales teams work together.

Our conversation about turning customer reviews into case studies stayed with me. At Northwind Analytics I built a similar program that produced 12 case studies in six months and helped lift demo conversion rates by 20%. I'd be excited to bring that experience to Brightline.

After speaking with you, I'm even more enthusiastic about the role and confident I could make a strong contribution to your team. If there's anything else you need from me, such as work samples or references, I'm happy to send them over.

Thank you again for your time. I look forward to hearing about the next steps.

Best regards,

Jane Doe
